

ACT Integrity Commission appoints Judy Lind as new CEO

18 August 2022

The ACT Integrity Commission will have a new CEO from Monday 22 August when Ms Judy Lind commences in the position.

Ms Lind has extensive experience working in senior executive roles across federal and state law enforcement, intelligence, and integrity agencies, including most recently as the Executive Director, Operations at the Australian Commission for Law Enforcement Integrity.

The Integrity Commissioner, the Hon Michael F Adams QC, acknowledged outgoing CEO, Mr John Hoitink for his three years at the helm:

‘As the Commission’s inaugural CEO, John has played a key role in the establishment of the Commission’s operations. He has provided impressive leadership in helping to guide the Commission through a challenging time as it has developed its staff and its systems and, at the same time, needed to commence to undertake its operational functions of investigating, exposing and preventing corruption.’

‘I wish John all the best in his future endeavours.’

Further information about the Commission and its work can be found on our website (www.integrity.act.gov.au) or our social media pages (@ACTintegrity and Facebook).
