

WHO SHOULD I REPORT TO?

A GUIDE TO THE ANTI-CORRUPTION AGENCIES IN THE ACT

Are you looking to report conduct you suspect may be corruption? (e.g. abuse of office, misuse of information, breaching public trust, or a public official failing to honestly or impartially exercise official duties).

Yes

No

The conduct may not be corruption.
Using this guide, determine which jurisdiction the conduct is relevant to and review their available resources.

Are you looking to report suspected corruption that is occurring in the Australian Capital Territory (ACT)?

Yes

No

Does the suspected corruption you want to report relate to the conduct of an ACT Government official, or an ACT Government directorate or agency?

No

Does the suspected corruption you want to report relate to the conduct of an Australian Government public servant, or Australian Government Department?

No

Yes

Does the suspected corruption relate to the conduct of an ACT Policing officer?

Yes

Yes

No

The suspected corruption may fall under the jurisdiction of the ACT Integrity Commission.

To report:
report.integrity.act.gov.au

The suspected corruption may fall under the jurisdiction of the National Anti-Corruption Commission.

To report: nacc.gov.au

Your report may fall into the jurisdiction of one of our interstate counterparts.

Visit:
integrity.act.gov.au for more information

WHO SHOULD I REPORT TO?

A GUIDE TO THE ANTI-CORRUPTION AGENCIES IN THE ACT

Persons you can report to the ACT Integrity Commission

- Anyone who has public official functions for the Territory or is acting in a public official capacity for the Territory, including the following:
 - A member of the ACT Legislative Assembly (an MLA)
 - A member of staff of an MLA
 - A judicial officer
 - A presidential member, non-presidential member, assessor or registrar of the ACT Civil & Administrative Tribunal (ACAT)
 - An officer of the Assembly
 - A statutory office holder
 - A public servant, or
 - Any other person who is an employee of a public sector entity or is a contractor, employee of a contractor, or volunteer exercising a function of a public sector entity.

Public entities you can report to the ACT Integrity Commission

Legislative Assembly entities

ACT Government Directorates

Statutory bodies

Territory authorities and instrumentalities

Territory-owned corporations and their subsidiaries

Public health services, including hospitals

Public transport

Emergency services, excluding ACT Police

Public education

Gas, electricity and water supply, where exercising the functions is of a public nature

ACT correctional centres and places of detention